

I am unsure when the airways became the private property of monied interests, but it troubles me greatly. If Sinclair is going to show this "documentary" they have to provide programming of equal length, shown in the same number of intervals for the other side. If the airways, which after all belong to all of us, can be controlled by the wealthiest among us, what will happen to our democracy?